WintEr ARt Environment (WEARE)

Freelance Artist Call out

Project Overview:

We are excited to announce an opportunity for freelance artists to collaborate on our upcoming project, WEARE. We are seeking talented artists who can bring their unique creative vision to our project.

About Us:

We are the Art Classes Group (ACG), based in the heart of central Slough, Queensmere Observatory shopping centre.

We aim to educate the public about art and culture. We offer educational programs, workshops, lectures, and tours to engage people of all ages in art appreciation and art-making.

We are collaborating with local schools, community centres, and other institutions to bring art and culture to underserved populations.

We provide support and well-being in a creative way to visual artists of all ages to strengthen their targets and achieve positive goals. Our team at ACG focuses on raising awareness about Visual Art support in the well-being of individuals, communities, society and our environment.

WEARE is the culmination of our activities and workshops delivered during the winter season at our centre. We want to bring a fresh stream of classes and workshops for our audiences and to support our staff with new learnings in developing the artistic curriculum.

We are looking for projects that will respond to the following themes:

- WintEr : We are looking for proposals that will convey the beauty and challenges of the season.
- ARt : Engage the community in creative and educational activities that will create a sense of belonging as WEARE.
- Environment: The project will also incorporate educational components to raise awareness about climate change on winter environments, wildlife adaptations, and sustainable practices for winter living.

WEARE will be delivered on the w/c 4th December 2023. The selected freelance artist will be committed to delivering at least 5 workshops during the week.
